

Now, list your most important dreams and goals for your life. You can revisit this later, and you should from time to time. For now, write down a few major things you want to do in your life, and write at least one thing you want to accomplish or see happen this year, and if you can, write one for this month, and one for this week.

[illegible]